THE SITUATION IS NOW MORE SERIOUS

Open Rupture Between Norway and Sweden Likely.

Meeting at Karlstad May Bring Forth
Startling Results in Norwegian-
Swedish Dissolution.

STOCKHOLM IS VERY HOPEFUL.

London, Sept. 14.—Dispatches from Christiania represent the situation between Norway and Sweden as serious owing to the determined attitude of the Swedish commissioners. Dispatches from Stockholm are less pessimistic and express the hope that a Modus Vivendi will be arranged. Much interest has been aroused by the presence in London during the last few days of Fritjof Nansen, the Arctic explorer, who in February last, was considered to be a likely candidate for the premiership of Norway, and who, since the dissolution of the Union has been spoken of as the probable first minister of Norway to Great Britain.

According to a dispatch to the Telegraph from Gothenburg, Sweden it is believed that Norway will accept the Swedish terms and that Sweden will agree to an arbitration treaty.

May Not Yield.

London, Sept. 14.—The correspondent of the Times at Karlstad says he believes there is a disposition on both sides to yield on the question of demarcation of the fortifications and an arbitration treaty. Sweden, he says, does not want the historical fortresses demolished and that if Norway is willing to demolish the modern forts Sweden will be ready to conclude arbitration treaty for settlement of all future differences but not those affecting questions now under discussion.

Depressive in Norway.

Christiania, Sept. 14.—Semi-official denial is given to the statement given in the Dagblad of Stockholm that the second to sixth year classes of Norwegian conception were to be mobilized. It is said that only a few guards of the Norwegian army near the frontier has been called to arms. A dispatch from Karlstad to the Aftenposten says that a feeling of depression prevails as to the outcome of negotiations and that the attitude of the Swedish commissioners regarding the fortifications has grown stronger.

The dispatch says it is hoped, however, that a Modus Vivendi will be reached after the signing of the treaty of arbitration.

WHOSE LICENSES WERE REVOKED.

Supervisor of the District Arrived
From Louisville to Review the Case.

Supervising Inspector E. L. Dorsey, of the government service, with headquarters at Louisville, arrived this morning and is waiting for the arrival of the steamer Kentucky from Tennessee river. He is here to review the case of the former engineer and assistant engineer on the steamer Kentucky, whose license was revoked recently by Inspectors Macdonald and Green for carrying more steam than allowed.

A Murder Trial Ended in the Smithland Circuit Court.

Cowan Killed His Neighbor, Warren
Woodard, Over Two Years Ago—Escaped Once.

THE REGISTER LOSES ITS SUIT.

Jim Cowan was this morning in the Smithland circuit court, given 21 years for killing Warren Woodard. The jury returned a verdict at noon today after having been out for forty-eight hours.

Cowan formerly lived on Woodard's farm near Smithland. The children had some sort of trouble and it resulted in a quarrel among the older people, and terminated in Cowan shooting Woodard and killing him.

For two years the murderer was at large and finally a few months ago was arrested at Reelfoot Lake, Tenn. He was brought back to Kentucky and it was not long until he had escaped with two other alleged murderers from the Smithland jail. He was at large but a few days, however, when caught.

Cowan is the third person charged with murder to be convicted at this term of the Smithland court, John Wells having been given a life sentence for killing John Hockenberry a few days ago, and Will Proctor, colored, getting two years for manslaughter.

FINAL SUMMONS OF ADJ. JOHN V. GREIF

and Had a Relapse Last Evening.

FUNERAL TOMORROW AT 3 P. M.

Mr. John V. Greif, the well known wagonmaker and Confederate veteran, died suddenly last night at his home at Sixth and Jackson streets, after an illness of only a few days. Mr. Greif had a chill a week or ten days ago, and had since been suffering from stomach trouble. He was thought to be improving, however, until last night, when he suffered a relapse, and at 8:15 breathed his last. His death came as a great shock to his countless friends in the city.

Mr. Greif was son of the late Frank and Mary Greif, and was born and reared in Paducah. He was 63 years old, and spent his entire life in Paducah with the exception of the time he was in the Confederate army. When the war broke out Mr. Greif enlisted in the Paducah company of the Third Kentucky and fought valiantly through the war for the Lost Cause. Returning after the war he was married to Miss Isabella Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Jones, prominent citizens.

Mr. Greif had always lived the life of an industrious, honorable and public-spirited citizen. He has served in the board of education, board of aldermen, and council, his longest service being in the school board. He had also been city assessor, and had held several minor offices.

In business, he was an expert wagon maker and blacksmith, and for several years had owned a shop on Kentucky avenue across from the city hall. His parents died in 1884.

Mr. Greif was a man liked by everybody. His fund of war lore was great and he was not only an enthusiastic veteran, but an authority as well, and his memory of battles and other incidents of the war was always to be relied upon. He had written for the papers a great many accounts of battles, and was one of the best known ex-Confederates in Kentucky. He had been adjutant of the local veterans, Camp James T. Walbert, for several years.

He was a member of the Methodist church, and was a man of good, clean morals.

Mr. Greif leaves besides a wife, several children, as follows:
Messrs. John, Algernon, and A. F. Greif and Misses Annabelle and Rebecca Greif.

He also leaves two brothers, Messrs. A. W. and Henry Greif, and two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Hall, North Fifth street, Paducah, and Mrs. Josephine Smith, of Metropolis, Ill.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock from the family residence at Sixth and Jackson streets, services by Rev. T. J. Newell, of the Broadway Methodist church, burial at Oak Grove cemetery.

The pall bearers will be selected from among the members of Camp James T. Walbert, Confederate Veterans.
